PREVENT FOREST FIRES—IT PAYS

An average of 7,300 acres of woodland are burned over by forest fires in New Hampshire each year destroying many thousand dollars worth of property of all description. It costs many additional thousands of dollars and requires valuable man hours, taken from other essential work, to extinguish them. These losses affect the personal fortunes of the owners, and town and state economies. Everyone loses because of them.

Analysis of fire causes reveals the fact that more than 98 percent of all forest fires are, consistently, the result of human carelessness and are preventable!

We have been extremely fortunate during the past few years. Favorable fire weather and war time restrictions on travel which kept people off the highways and out of the woods have aided materially in reducing fire risks, keeping fires fewer and fire losses low.

We now face changed conditions. People can travel freely. Their love for travel and the freedom of the woods will bring them out in ever increasing numbers. This will step up the fire risks materially. The accelerated cutting of the war years has resulted in additional thousands of slash acres. These factors, combined with a possible dry season and human carelessness could easily produce a catastrophe. Everyone must, consequently, be on his guard. He should

1. Be careful with fire or when smoking in or near woodlands.

2. Cooperate with the local forest fire warden and his deputies by

- a. Abiding cheerfully with whatever restrictions it may be necessary to impose. They are intended only to be helpful.

- b. Securing permits to burn debris when the ground is not covered with snow.
- c. Seeing that others comply with the requirements.
- d. Promptly coming to the warden's assistance when needed.

If these few fundamental practices are followed it will be possible to PREVENT a large proportion of FOREST FIRES from starting—that PAYS!

ALFRED PAYNE,
Forest Fire Warden.

MINOT-SLEEPER LIBRARY—REPORT OF TRUSTEES

With the best interests of the people of Bristol and vicinity ever in mind the trustees and librarians of Minot-Sleeper Library have during the past year endeavored to satisfactorily execute the various responsibilities which pertain to the management of the affairs of the library.

The return to the full three day weekly schedule is much appreciated by the patrons of the library.

An appropriate Memorial Book Plate, featuring a sketch of the library by Mr. Frederick Robbins, has been designed and is now in use. Many gifts to the Memorial Bookshelf have been received this year and are greatly appreciated.

The will of our late trustee, Mary D. Musgrove, contained the following item: "I give and bequeath to Minot Sleeper Library a sum sufficient, but not exceeding $200, to properly display and house the Indian relics belonging to my father, Richard W. Musgrove, provided the heirs consider it wise to so place them in the library, and that the trustees see fit to accept such a gift." Since the trustees were unable to accept the terms of this clause of Miss Musgrove's will the heirs are deferring payment until such time as the library is in position to receive the gift.

Minot-Sleeper Library has again been made the recipient of a gift of $200 from the estate of Agnes M. Lindsay.

Visitors of the reading room find available the leading current magazines and the circulation of magazines carries this privilege into the homes of our patrons. The Minnie Maria Day-Jackman fund makes this valuable service possible.

BRISTOL SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

Among the many and varied duties of a superintendent of schools is that of acquainting the community with the aims, ideals and practises of the school system. There must always be a gulf between an ideal and a practice for otherwise the ideal loses its significance; probably one of the greatest problems is to lessen this gulf at not too great a cost to the ideal.

The writer believes that there is a future, and a good one, for the town of Bristol, its people, and those in the surrounding countryside. Nature did not bless so bountifully such an area without great expectations in return. Certainly educational ideals and practises must not lose sight of the natural and economic phases of a given area.

Many school systems of this size offer some kind of vocational courses to both boys and girls. Educators recognize the value of skills other than those of purely book learning and much is being done in this field of learning by the more liberal schools. Bristol should offer courses of this nature to its pupils, and to those of the surrounding area. Just what these courses should be to best fit the needs should not be the decision of one person but of many. It is in view of this trend that some addition to the existing plant becomes necessary, plus the need of increased laboratory facilities and physical education opportunities. It would be well in this matter to consider trends in the country as a whole. There are good bases upon which to predict that compulsory education to the age of 18 is "just around the corner." In fact many states have such a law now, and a hint at a depression on a national scale will find the school facing its toughest assignment: increased enrollments required by law, the demand for vocational training "for the times," decreased revenue and inadequate plant facilities. The newer emphasis on physical education, which too may become compulsory, demands a gymnasium of some kind. School men are well agreed that such a unit must be built to serve the community as well as the school; the more it's used the more value the community receives for its tax dollar.

The above paragraph fits well with the increased emphasis on guidance of the child throughout its entire school career. This is sometimes called vocational guidance but personal guidance might be a better title. Pupils need the counsel of older people in many things, and will seek sound advice when they know they will get it. Educational guidance, and along with it, vocational guidance, need not be left entirely to chance. There are many tests which, when properly used, are of great assistance in aiding a pupil in the better choice of educational and vocational fields. We are making a small, but real, start in this direction this year with the present eighth grade.

It is for the people of Bristol to decide what it wants to offer its children, and to those of the immediate area. Much basic work needs to be done, differences of opinion expressed, many meetings held, many compromises made before this question can be settled on firm foundations. In a large sense what Bristol wants to be and wants to have lies with the people of Bristol. Perhaps the writer is an optimist inspired with over zeal and a new job. There is no harm in this were it so; a couple of would be world dictators sold the United States too cheaply "down the river." They have paid more dearly than we. It is our hope that we can offer as good educational advantages to people interested in Bristol as nature has endowed us with physically. One can not ask for more!

Whatever may be done will find us "with malice toward none" doing what we consider the best with full value received for the money spent.

Respectfully submitted, ·

C. MAURICE GRAY.
